Justice Fitzgerald administered the ath of office to the commissioners and talked with them concerning the case, and their duties in connection with the inquiry they were about to undertake. The interview lasted for more than an hour, and then Justice Fitzgerald convened court. Harry Thaw was brought in and found all the members of his family awaiting him. He looked ex-ceedingly well physically.

Jury Let Go Until Monday.

Justice Fitzgerald, in discharging the jury until next Monday, warned them to be careful not to discuss the case in any way or to read any newspaper accounts of what is taking place. It was said that in directing the jury to report next Monday Justice Fitzgerald did not wholly expect that the commission will be ready to render an opinion by that time. If the commission's inquiry is trial, should Thaw be declared sane. originally selected, and when they left the criminal courts building at the luncheon hour it was announced that they would reassemble at 3 p. m. His presence was unexplained, however, for more than an hour. Then the announcement of Judge O'Brien's resignation and the appoint ment of Mr. McClure as his successor The commission hopes to get under way without any delay whatsoever and will press the inquiry to the speed iest possible conclusion.

O'Brien's Resignation.

Along with his order appointing Mr. McClure as a member of the lunacy sion, Justice Fitzgerald gave out the text of former Justice O'Brien's is letter of resignation, which follows:

"My Dear Justice Fitzgerald: When you honored me by asking me to consent to become a member of the commission in re Thaw and suggested that by so doing I would be rendering a public service, I acceded to your request notwithstanding my disinclination to again assume public duties.

"Upon reflection, however, I am re-luctantly forced to the conclusion that view of the present condition of my health and of professional engagements previously accepted, and involving obligations to others which I cannot vade, I must decline the service much as I regret this decision.

"In arriving at this determination I ssure you that I have not undervalued the importance to the public of the service which you have so kindly requested me to undertake, and my conclusion has been reached only after careful consideration of the present condition of my health and other obligations previously assumed by me.
"With sentiments of esteem and appreciation of your expression of confidence, I remain, gratefully yours, "MORGAN J. O'BRIEN."

HOW OUR GOOD OLD GRAND-MOTHERS CURED COUGHS AND

Our grandmothers had the right idea; when any one had a cough or cold on when any one had a cough or cold on the lungs in their day, the good oid goose grease and turpentine were trotted out and the chest was plastered good and thick and a viece of flannel was put on; ther a tea was made of flaxseed, with addition of sugar, licorice and lemon juice—pretty good stuff, too. Why? Because the principle was all right.
